Founder of Rucellai & Raffaelli and Head of the Antitrust Department
Milan office
email e.a.raffaelli@rucellaieraffaelli.it

In 1979 he founded Rucellai & Raffaelli law firm.

Practice areas:

He has specific expertise in the area of competition and IP laws, acting in litigation, advising and representing major companies both at national and EU level.

He assists multinational groups in several different economic sectors (for instance TV media, insurance, steel, chemical, pharmaceutical, IT, electronic and consumer goods).

In particular, in the antitrust field he acts in litigation, advising and representing major companies both at national (proceedings before the Italian Antitrust Authority and Administrative and Civil Courts) and EU level (proceedings before the European Commission and European Courts) in relation to the areas of his expertise. He also provides his experience in organizations of customized antitrust compliance programs and special education training sessions, including mock dawn raids and antitrust auditing for companies and trade associations; assistance in sector inquiries; assistance in private antitrust actions; legal opinions on the interpretation and enforcement of EU antitrust law, also concerning several regulated sectors.

He provides his assistance in general commercial litigation, antitrust litigation, public procurement (awards, exclusions, challenging of procedure regulation) and litigation in connection with acts of governmental and independent authorities, including local bodies and agencies.

Associations and conferences:

He is a member of several national and international associations and a frequent speaker at national and international conferences and seminars on IP, EU law and competition law.

1. At national level

Since graduating, he has held numerous research and teaching positions in international and EU law at leading Italian universities. From 1999 to 2013 he was Professor of European Union Law at the Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore of Milan.
